

FANTASY FREAKO'S

ROUND 9

2011

CHAMPION/DATA/ISSUE 9

Hi and welcome to the ninth edition of the Fantasy Freako's rave for 2011. In what was a high scoring week, most coaches would have cracked the 2,100 point mark, but if you didn't, then you have plenty of work to do.

As always, trade wisely and best of luck to everyone for the upcoming round.

NEVER TRADE OUT YOUR PREMIUMS

If you know anything about fantasy footy, then the number one golden rule is that you never trade out your premium players, unless they have a lengthy injury layoff that is, like a Cyril Rioli or a Shaun Higgins this year. One such gun that has been offloaded in recent weeks has been Nick Riewoldt, with over 6,000 coaches since Round 5 giving him the boot. After having five consecutive price drops, he came out and did what he does best against the Dees, and that is dominate. He racked up a career-high 31 disposals to score a well overdue 134 points, but what made this performance even more impressive was that he only grabbed five marks. He played further up the ground than in previous weeks and won almost one third of his disposals in the defensive half. Two other Saints that broke the shackles last week were Brendon Goddard and Leigh Montagna with scores of 122 and 151 points respectively.

If we look at the Round 9 scores of the below players, with the exception of four scores, the rest were all in the elite bracket, which highlights my case in point, that you never trade out your guns.

MOST TRADED IN

Conversely to this, if we look at the most traded in players since Round 5, four of the top five are mature age players with Paul Puopolo, Isaac Smith, Michael Hibberd and Luke Thompson among the popular selections. If you jumped the gun early and swooped on Smith prior to the teams being named last round, then like Hibberd a few weeks earlier, you would have been disappointed when he was rested with general soreness.

AFL DREAM TEAM AVERAGE

The time has come to offload Shaun McKernan. He has a breakeven score of about 59 points this week, a number he has failed to top over the past month. Ben Jacobs or Tendai Mzungu are clear standouts as replacements, depending on what position you have him in.

FREMANTLE

FREAKO SAYS:

Almost half of the competition will this week have to decide what to do with Aaron Sandilands. He suffered a serious foot injury last week against Port Adelaide, which has ruled him out of action for four weeks. I would strongly recommend keeping him despite his layoff, especially if you have Zac Smith as your back up.

With four sub 70 scores already this year, I really can't see any long term benefits in holding onto Josh Kennedy. He just hasn't got the consistency or high scoring ability to become a premium, so trading up to a gun would be your best option.
